

JCQTA

Joint Council of Queensland Teachers' Associations

Teachers building the profession for teachers

What is the JCQTA?

The JCQTA is the Joint Council of Queensland Teacher Associations- the peak body for education professional associations that provides a common voice on educational matters in the interests of teachers.

Who is involved it?

Member associations and their web addresses are listed overleaf.

How does it operate to assist Teachers?

The JCQTA conducts professional development for its member associations. JCQTA has held workshops on Web2.0, Values Education and Copyright Training.

The JCQTA, as an affiliate of APTA - the Australian Professional Teachers' Association, gives feedback on national issues such as the development of standards for advanced and primary teachers. JCQTA holds an annual dinner for Association Presidents and representatives and an annual forum to discuss issues of relevance to associations.

Teachers and others in the education sector often feel they have no voice in decision-making and are caught in a maelstrom of reforms and initiatives. The JCQTA works to advocate for the classroom teacher and others working in school and education settings by having representation on a range of committees and actively seeking communication with the decision-makers and the media.

Why should you be a member of a Professional Teacher Association?

If you are a member of a Professional Teacher Association you can receive and share information about teacher and teaching issues. You generally receive discounted registration fees at conferences and workshops. You are kept up to date on local, state and national issues and can contribute feedback on how these issues affect you - you have a voice. With membership of an association you have declared yourself as a professional. Take the step and join one of the Associations from those listed on this flyer.
